

2010 Master Skills Series: Trauma of the Elbow, Forearm and Wrist Pre & Post Test Course Survey Questions – Due April 23, 2010

Due to changes in the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) standards, the ASSH is now required to assess learning from participation in continuing medical education events. To address these changing standards, the Hand Society will be using pre- and post- tests for all of its courses. These questions will be used to evaluate the knowledge of course participants before attending a program and again after the course to see if improvements were made. Questions should come from content discussed during your session. To keep the test manageable in size we are only asking faculty to submit ONE question with five possible answers (1 correct, 4 incorrect) for inclusion in the pre/post test by April 23, 2010. If you are presenting on multiple topics you may choose which subject to base your question on.

Please submit your survey question by email to dshkap@assh.org by April 23, 2010.

When submitting your survey question and answers (1 question, 5 possible answers) please indicate the Course or Talk your question relates to and don't forget to mark the correct answer!

Tips for Question Writing

The survey we will send to attendees will be multiple choice with five answer choices for all questions. Your question should have five (5) possible answers; 1 correct answer and 4 distracters.

Keep Stems Focused

The stem of the question should contain only essential information. Extraneous details that are not needed to answer the question should be left out.

Cover Up Test

If you cover the answers/distracters, you should be able to generate possible answers just by reading the stem of the question.

Keep Distracters Parallel

If the question concerns treatment, answer and distracters should all be treatments. If it concerns a diagnosis, answer and distracters should all be diagnoses, etc.
